ELEVEN NAVAL AIRMEN DIE AS GIANT BOMBERS COLLIDE

WERE VICTIMS WEDNESDAY IN MID-AIR CRASH

Worst Plane Disaster In Fleet History Off
San Pedro

ONE PLANE DOWN
A BLAZING TORCH

Four Crewmen of Other
Picked Up By a
Speeding Launch

By The Associated Press.

SAN PEDRO, Feb. 3.—A mid-air collision of two giant bombers—worst plane disaster in American naval history—claimed its eleventh life today as a search was made by air and sea for the missing bodies of ten airmen.

Rescued from the water after the bomber 11-P-4 fell in a splintering impact last night, J. H. Hester, radioman first class of San Diego, died aboard the hospital ship Relief at San Clemente Island this morning.

Three of his companions were seriously injured but were expected to recover.

One plane, the 11-P-3, fell in flames and all of its crew of seven were believed to have perished.

The other plane, the 11-F-4, splintered like fragile china as it struck the choppy sea. Four crewmen including Hester were picked up alive by a speeding launch from the flagship Pennsylvania, but Hester died of his injuries later.

The other three men in the 11-P-4 were not found, though surface craft combed the scene and scores of searchlights stabbed the darkness.

A daylight plane search was immediately ordered.

The disaster overtook the bombers, attached to squadron VP-11 of the North Island naval air base at San Diego, just 26 days after a sister plane, of the VP-7 squadron, vanished off the California coast with seven men.

The full strength of the fleet was deployed for swift tactical tests 70 miles at sea, directly south of San Clemente Island, when the collision occurred.

Rushed To Hospital Ship
The four survivors were rushed to the hospital ship Relief, lying in Pyramid Cove at the island.

As the concerted rescue attempt began, Admiral Claude C. Bloch lifted a rigid wartime "radio silence" to replay news of the tragedy to the navy department at Washington and to the press.

Cause of the crash, beyond bad weather, was not announced immediately, but naval officers ashore said the bombers, flying near each other, may have been crushed together by a sudden downdraft.

They were cruising at about 140 miles an hour, close above four battleships and 20 destroyers.

Only yesterday morning, they

TALK TO KIWANIS ON BOYS' WORK

Beneficial activities among Sedalia juveniles being accomplished by the Boys' Work Council were explained by Irvin Raul, supervising the program, speaking before Kiwanis Club in Hotel Bothwell this noon. He painted a candid word picture of the local problem in which the Kiwanis Club and other civic organizations are interested. He told of the effort being made to aid youths to adjust themselves socially by finding some play or educational activity.

The speaker was introduced by Henry Salveter, program chairman for February.

G. V. Jones told of his attendance at a meeting of the Chicago Uptown Kiwanis Club, the oldest Kiwanis Club in the United States.

President Guy T. Callender complimented the members on the January attendance which was an average of 85 per cent.

Club guests were Cal Keller, of Moberly, lieutenant governor of District 8; and D. C. Messler, of Moberly. Mr. Keller gave a brief talk on the occasion of his official visit to the Sedalia club.

R. L. McKeen, who has been absent because of illness for several meetings, was present today greatly improved in health.

CEASE AND DESIST ORDER ON BARRETT

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 3.—Issuance of a cease and desist order against W. W. Barrett, president of the American Service Company with offices in Kansas City, was announced today by Secretary of State Dwight B. Brown's office.

The company, according to the order, had not been licensed to operate in Missouri as a corporation.

Files in the case identified Barrett as a former banker at Sedalia.

MRS. K. MORROW DIES WEDNESDAY AT A HOSPITAL

Widely Known Democratic Leader Succumbs
In Capital City

By The Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 3.—Funeral services will be held in Warrensburg, Friday at 2 p. m., for Kate S. Morrow, former hostess at the executive mansion, once Democratic nominee for secretary of state, and prominent in politics for more than forty years.

Burial will be in Sunset Hill cemetery there.

Survivors include William Shockey of Warrensburg, a brother, and Mrs. Edgar M. Scott of Cleveland, Mrs. C. B. Ming of Los Angeles and Mrs. J. F. Grote of Clinton, Ia., sisters.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 3.—(P)—Mrs. Kate S. Morrow of Warrensburg, widely known in the affairs of the Democratic party in Missouri for 40 years, died at a hospital here late Wednesday. She had been ill with heart disease for two weeks.

Mrs. Kate S. Morrow was regarded as one of the most widely known active women Democrats in Missouri.

She was the party's nominee for secretary of state in 1924, the only woman ever to contend for a state-wide office in a general election in the state.

Familiar Figure

A familiar figure in Jefferson City for almost 40 years, Mrs. Morrow came here about 1900 from Warrensburg as a reporter for the railroad and warehouse commission.

She almost immediately came into prominence as official hostess at the executive mansion during the last two years of Governor A. M. Dockery's administration, following the death of Mrs. Dockery Jan. 1, 1903.

Mrs. Morrow's husband, William A. Morrow, served as executive clerk under Dockery. The Morrrows lived at the executive mansion throughout 1903 and 1904.

Following a brief period in the state insurance department, Mrs. Morrow returned to the railroad and warehouse commission and, with the reorganization of that agency into the Public Service Commission, became first assistant to the secretary.

THREE INDICTED AS GRAND JURY MAKES REPORT

Find County In General
Law Abiding and Officers
Doing Duty

TWO NEGROES ARE UNDER ARREST

One Charged With Gambling and The Other
With Perjury

The Pettis County grand jury, which convened on January 3, the opening day of the January term of criminal court, and was in session twenty-six days during the month, made a report to Judge Dimmitt Hoffman late Wednesday afternoon, and the members were dismissed.

The body returned three indictments, and two of those named, Jack Young and Alonzo Bird, both Negroes, were arrested Wednesday night by Deputy Sheriffs Clyde Coppers and John Starkey. The third party indicted had not been arrested last night and his name could not be made known until after his arrest.

Arrested On Gambling Charge
Young is charged with possession of a gambling device. He was arrested on a similar charge last September 27 and his case dismissed by Justice of the Peace Bell Hutchinson. The prosecuting attorney, L. J. Harned stated at the time the case was dismissed before the state had an opportunity to present its evidence. Another charge was filed in W. H. Leslie's justice court by the prosecuting attorney and a change of venue taken to Judge W. R. Large who dismissed the charge stating there was not sufficient evidence to hold Young. It was ten filed by the prosecuting attorney in a justice court at Beaman, where it is now pending, but that case, Mr. Harned said, will be dismissed.

Gives $1500 Bond
Young gave $1500 bond signed by J. W. Roach and Carl Abbott, the latter a Negro.

Bird is charged with perjury in connection with inquiries made by the grand jury with reference to a pool hall operated by Carl Abbott and a license to operate same. He remained in the county jail Wednesday night but was released on bond this morning signed by Eula Ferguson and Carl Abbott.

The complete report of the grand jury is given below. Ed Whitmore, one of the members has been ill at his home for the past few days, but other members took it to his home Wednesday and he attached his signature.

"We, the grand jury for the January term of 1938 in Sedalia, Pettis county, Missouri, wish to make the following report as a result of the investigation of this body. Our investigation discloses to the best of our knowledge and belief, the following:

"We are advised that no member of the county court has borrowed any school money since their election, or during their term of office. Nor has any judge gone security for any county loans, or for school money.

"We visited the county poor farm and found the buildings in good condition and cleanliness prevailed, and we compliment those in charge of the supervision of this institution for their apparent earnest efforts in this regard.

"So far as we can ascertain, both railroads running through this city are complying with the law to the best of their ability to keep their various equipment such as frogs, switches and crossings in repair, except for the following to-wit: We wish to submit that the railroad crossing at the point where both the M. K. & T. and Missouri Pacific railroads intersect Engineer street in Sedalia, Missouri, is in very bad shape and dangerous to pedestrians and motor vehicles, and permanent repairs should be made immediately to safeguard the public.

"We called upon the two city hospitals and found them efficiently managed by trained experts and we compliment the boards who supervise these institutions, and also the staffs of experts who perform the actual duties of operation in both these institutions.

"The Hon. Dimmitt Hoffman has cooperated with us in ever respect and cheerfully given us any help asked for.

"The prosecuting attorney has shown a willingness to serve us in all manners possible to the best of his ability.

"We have visited and inspected the county jail, which is under the supervision of Sheriff W. L.

BURNED BODY IS FINALLY BURIED

EDINA, Mo., Feb. 3.—The burned body of a man officers spent more than fourteen weeks trying to identify was buried in Potter's field today with his death still a mystery.

The body was found October 29 in a burned automobile. The fact it had previously been embalmed baffled officers. Coroner Keith Hudson estimated more than 3,000 persons viewed the charred remains but none could give a clue to the man's identity. The burial was conducted by Coroner Hudson, and witnessed by a few curious onlookers.

John Crom, Blooming Prairie, Minn., stock buyer, told authorities he sold the auto in which the body was found two or three days before it burned near here. He said he was not in the vicinity of Edina at the time.

DEMANDS FOR A SHOWDOWN ON ARMY AND NAZIS

Reports Col. Gen. Van
Fritsch Is Believed To Have Resigned

By The Associated Press.

BERLIN, Feb. 3.—(P)—An impatient demand by the generals of the army for a showdown on the whole question of relationship between Germany's armed forces and the Nazi party became apparent today.

The airport executive's counsel, Jerry Giesler, led him back over much of the testimony he gave during the exhaustive cross-examination of Prosecutor S. E. Roll, who pounded away at Wright's story until the frail, dyspeptic defendant collapsed and had to be assisted from the courtroom.

Wright's defense is that he shot, in a "white flame" of anger that seared his brain, because he found Mrs. Wright and Kimmel in an embrace on the piano bench of the Wright living room in Glendale, November 9.

Roll went through Wright's statement to police, sentence by sentence. Wright said he did not remember being asked many of the questions. He said he did remember being fingerprinted.

Wright told Roll he did not recall saying anything to Mrs. Wright and Kimmel when he found them embracing, but Roll quoted from the police statement in which Wright said he asked: "What's all this?"

Recess Was Called
At this juncture Wright seemed on the verge of fainting, and complained of a severe arm cramp. A bailiff rubbed the arm vigorously, but Wright was so weak that Judge Ingall Bull called a recess and Wright was assisted from the courtroom.

When he returned, Roll began to hammer away on the police statement, and Wright, taut, his face contorted, wilted again.

Wright's father, Dr. J. J. Wright of Milwaukee, who administered to him when he collapsed, said his son's hands were blistered on the palms from nervous clenching, gripping the witness chair and digging his fingernails into his flesh.

Some of the testimony was in less serious vein. Wright said he frequently went to bed at 10 p. m. and his wife remained up until early morning.

The Wright's liquor bills sometimes ran more than $40 a month, he said. His salary as president of Union Air Terminal, Burbank, was $550 monthly.

Giesler said he planned to call four more defense witnesses when he completed his examination of Wright, and then rest his case. The prosecution said it had finished with its cross-examination, except on one point. Allowing for two days for final arguments and instructions to the jury, the case should be ready for deliberation by next Tuesday or Wednesday.

Atmosphere of Quiet
IN REGISTRATIONS
KANSAS CITY, Feb. 3.—(P)—In an atmosphere of quiet, Kansas City residents began registering today under the city's new permanent registration law to vote at the March municipal election.

The hundreds who went to precincts today and the others who will go tomorrow are the ones who filed preliminary applications. The appearance of "ghost" applications in that preliminary list and the subsequent pay roll row over the expense of running them down attracted statewide attention.

SEVEN POSSIBLY FROZEN TO DEATH IN STORM

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 3.—(P)—Seven men were missing today, possibly frozen to death, as a prolonged storm brought additional snow, rain and flood threats to northern and central California.

Two search parties sought the missing men in the snow piled Butt Valley wilderness of California's Sierra Nevada range.

Snow fell heavily through the night throughout the Sierra Nevada.

TWO SEDALIANS ARE INDICTED

B. J. Bahner, Sedalia, proprietor of the Bahner Sheet Metal Works, a former city alderman, and his brother, E. R. Bahner, also of this city, were charged, in federal indictments, returnable at Jefferson City, with conspiracy to violate the emergency relief appropriation act of 1935. The indictments were returned Wednesday afternoon by the grand jury now meeting in Kansas City.

The charges involve contracts for furnishing trucks and drivers on WPA projects under which they are alleged to have collected a total of $845, without providing trucks of the specified type and size and for the specified number of hours.

The alleged offenses occurred between February 1 and June 30, 1937.

B. J. Bahner was then a project superintendent and is now supervisor of the WPA work being done at the Missouri State Fair grounds.

Fred Wesner, attorney for the brothers, said warrants had not been served on them this afternoon. They had no statement to make at this time, he said.

ACCUSED KILLER COLLAPSES IN THE COURT ROOM

Defense of Paul Wright
Near To The End of Testimony

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 3.—(P)—

Palid-faced Paul A. Wright, exhausted from two days of merciless prosecution grilling on how and why he killed Mrs. Wright and John Kimmel, resumed in re-direct examination today his story.

The airport executive's counsel, Jerry Giesler, led him back over much of the testimony he gave during the exhaustive cross-examination of Prosecutor S. E. Roll, who pounded away at Wright's story until the frail, dyspeptic defendant collapsed and had to be assisted from the courtroom.

Rejection Indicated
SALAMANCA, Feb. 3.—A source close to the Spanish insurgent government tonight indicated that regime would reject proposals for a truce in air raids on cities behind the front lines.

The insurgent spokesman said Barcelona and Valencia were "first class military objectives."

"As ports they take in munitions, planes, war supplies and thus are legitimate targets for naval and air action on our part," he continued. "What comparable military value have Seville and Salamanca?"

'LITTLE BUSINESS' PARLEY IS ENDED WITH AN UPROAR

Conference From Start

By Tumult

ECONOMIC ADVICE
FOR PRESIDENT

Government Aid Sought
To Stimulate Private Credit

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—The administration's "little business" conference adjourned in an uproar today, after voting a program of economic advice to President Roosevelt.

Two delegates forcibly were tossed out of Secretary Roper's spacious commerce department auditorium, in a vain effort to quiet a feverish tumult, before Chairman Fred Roth, Cleveland, Ohio, pounded the gavel the last time.

Despite shouted protests, the conference adopted reports of nine committees which recommended, among other things, that the government supply financial aid by stimulating private credit.

An unusual calm smoothed the disorderly confusion immediately after adjournment. Businessmen who had been talking and shouting a moment before sat back in their chairs to pose for photographers.

Both of those ejected a few moments earlier had wanted to address the conference before it closed.

A. S. Shafer of Philadelphia was removed from the scene for the second time. Commerce department guards led him out of yesterday's meeting. The business men almost tore his trousers off while tossing him out themselves today.

"Forgotten Man" Tossed Out
Robert Kemper, who termed himself the forgotten man of New York, was thrown out by a squad of plain clothes policemen, after he too became involved in an argument over demands that he be heard.

The uproar attendant on the two ejections threw the whole meeting into a noisy chaos with most of the 1,000 present jamming the aisles, standing on chairs, and yelling for order. Cries of "throw him out" were

NEVER ANY 5-3 RATIO WITH JAPAN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(P)—

Admiral William D. Leahy testified today the United States never had a 5-3 naval ratio with Japan because of the necessity of keeping part of the fleet in the Atlantic ocean.

This ratio was fixed by the now defunct London and Washington naval treaties.

Leahy, questioned by Representative Maas (R-Minn) asserted that in the event of hostilities in the Pacific, he would want all the fleet available in that ocean.

Responding to questions by Representative Brewster (R-Me) the navy's top-ranking officer declared the navy never had considered any plans for "quarantining" aggressor nations.

The discussion brought a sharp criticism from Maas that the president had been "misquoted." He said he believed the president had not suggested that the United States join in a "quarantine" movement.

"I think the record will speak for itself," Brewster retorted.

Maas wanted to know whether a successful blockade of United States ports would permit a foreign power to "conquer" this country without a military conquest.

AMERICAN-FRENCH TRUCKS BOMBED

By The Associated Press.
PERPIGNAN, France, Feb. 3.—An American-French train of ambulances and food trucks was bombed today by insurgent planes in Spain with a loss of three lives, Spanish government border authorities reported.

The dead were Spaniards who were standing nearby.

Twelve persons were reported seriously injured in the attack at Figueras, 15 miles below the French border.

CHARGES MADE BY BURKE ON NLRB DENIED

Chairman Madden Insists
That It Is "Neither Biased or Incompetent"

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(P)—

J. Warren Madden, chairman of the National Labor Relations Board, asserted today his agency was neither biased nor incompetent, and had no "illusions about making the social order."

Madden's statement was made to the senate judiciary committee which is considering a request from Senator Burke (D-Neb) to investigate "widespread reports" the board was biased and incompetent in administering the Wagner labor act.

Madden said Burke was basing his criticisms of the board on "a supply of misinformation, half-truths and trivialities."

The labor board head denied the charges Burke laid before the committee and maintained that employees and employers alike have benefited from the board's administration of the Wagner labor act.

"More Freedom to Workers"
"We have seen millions of American workers avail themselves of a freedom they never had before."

"We have seen thousands of employers put their relations with their employees upon a basis of equal and mutually self-respecting bargaining, who never had done so before."

Replying to Burke's charges that the board is prejudiced in favor of the CIO over the American Federation of Labor, Madden said the A. F. of L. has won 14 of 20 decisions on collective bargaining representation.

Madden said the board had been upheld in 96 of 97 court cases involving injunctions "and the 97th will inevitably be decided in accord with the 96."

Claims Legal Procedure

Commenting on charges that the board's agents attempted to intimidate the mayors of East Lumberton, N. C., and Johnstown, Pa., Madden declared:

"The board's findings show that the mayor of East Lumberton has soiled his official robes considerably by leading a mob to threaten a union organizer; by intimidating a board witness by threatening to put him under a peace bond if he gave testimony as to a shooting into a union organizer's house; and by spying upon union meetings."

"The mayor of Johnstown has been mentioned," he added. "I am advised that evidence has been given in a hearing which is now being held before a trial examiner of the board, that during the steel strike there last summer an official of the Bethlehem Steel company caused some $20,000 in cash to be delivered to the mayor."

"The evidence was so unusual that I am sure that if the mayor asked for an early opportunity to explain the transaction it would have been given him. The case is not completed and the mayor has not been a witness. I am at a loss to know what the agents of the board are supposed to have done except to produce relevant evidence."

SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY

One thing the past eight years have certainly done. They have developed a sense of social responsibility that never existed before, except in isolated individuals.

Despite all talk of economic royalists, there are few employees today who do not at least give a thought to the public results of their conduct of their private business. They are not always guided, and can not be guided solely by that thought, but it exists, it influences.

This doesn't mean that "bad" people have suddenly become "good." It simply means that in today's world a sense of social responsibility pays. No business generally regarded as against the public interest has any great future ahead of it. Social responsibility is simply a new factor in business which the smart business man must consider for his own good, even if not for any great love of humanity.

A typical example is the change in the tone of liquor advertising. "Pay your bills first," cries a prominent distiller in his newest ad. "No person should spend a cent for liquor until the necessities of living are provided—and paid for."

Is this firm trying to kill off its own business? Not at all. It is taking a long-range view. "The very existence of legalized liquor depends on the civilized manner in which it is consumed," continues the distiller. "In the long run, we believe, it is good business for us to say 'pay your bills first.'"

This same long view is being adopted by many other firms. There is a new conception of public good will in the air. That used to mean simply that many people were favorably inclined toward the particular product of the firm. But now it means more than that. The public must be sold on the idea that the firm is producing a useful and valuable product—that it is a socially valuable institution. Many firms have seen the light on this and are engaged in selling the public on the idea, and acting so that it can validly be sold.

More than ever before, every institution, public and private, is being called on to meet this ultimate test: "Is it a social asset? Does it help or hinder great numbers of people?" And as each year passes, more and more responsible people are realizing this. Such a change is one of the best hopes for the future.

VISIBLE PROGRESS

Many of the reforms and changes that are going on today are hard to measure, hard to see, or to put down in black and white. They concern intangible things.

But there is at least one gain being made that can be seen and measured. That is in tree planting, which is creating a national asset for the future that can be touched and felt.

From 1927 to 1934 inclusive, about 95,000 acres of national forest land were replanted with trees. Even that might have looked like quite an accomplishment in the days when Theodore Roosevelt was agitating for conservation.

But in the years 1935-37 inclusive, 502,000 acres were planted by the Forest Service of the Department of Agriculture alone. Most of this was in fire-blasted areas where natural seeding could not replace the lost trees.

Five hundred thousand acres of trees! There's a tangible asset which will show up on the right side of the balance sheet of the future!

WHAT SERVICE TO WHOM

A curious proposal is being made. It is that Americans contribute to a Rudyard Kipling Memorial Fund, which, when it reaches $1,000,000, will erect a statue to Kipling in England, endow a library at an English university, and provide certain traveling fellowships to young men "of the English-speaking world."

All this is to be as a memorial to Kipling "and his service to the English-speaking peoples."

Now Americans who have read and loved the Jungle Tales, and Kim, and the Light That Failed, might forget Kipling's freely-expressed contempt for Americans in a generous wish to honor Kipling, the author. But to honor Kipling's "service to the English-speaking peoples" is another matter. Before Americans honor any such services of Kipling to the English-speaking peoples who happen to live in North America, it would be an idea to have somebody tell just what they were.

Besides, Kipling himself denied that Americans speak a language that was more than barely recognizable to him as English.

Most animals live longer in zoos than in their natural surroundings.

It is possible to see only about 2,000 stars at any one time with the naked eye, and only persons with keen eyesight can see this number.

Because the planet Jupiter is not a solid body, all parts of it do not rotate in the same length of time. There are at least eight different periods of rotation in the planet.

WASHINGTON—You can expect increasingly important developments in American policy in the Far East from now on. There may be nothing sensational; it all depends. But certainly you will find a steady tightening of Roosevelt's attitude toward the Japanese.

Several straws in the wind point clearly to this. Surface straws are the fact that both Secretary of State Hull and Under Secretary Welles have dropped all routine work, are handling only Far Eastern problems. Very few other international questions are brought to their attention.

Behind this is the conviction, borne out by every dispatch from China, that the Japanese are determined to push the white man completely out of Eastern Asia and the islands of the Pacific, and that the white nations must stick together.

Some of the questions now being discussed by the State Department with France and Great Britain are (1) increasing the size of the Panama and Suez Canals in order to permit the passage of giant battleships; (2) how large these future battleships will be; and (3) possible strategy to be used by U. S., British, French naval forces in Far Eastern waters in case of emergency.

However, these are mere details in a broader and much more important plan for cooperation which is still in process of formation. With this plan Roosevelt may make one last and prodigious effort to unsnarl some of the world's troubles before admitting the inevitability of war.

A Law a Week
Representative Bruce Barton's loudly touted crusade to "repeal a law a week" doesn't seem to be doing so well. The gentleman from New York, who made a fortune in advertising, has offered only two repeal measures, which were promptly buried in committee.

However, Barton says he plans to speed up his drive. "In a week or so," he explains, "I'll have a lot more repeal bills."

Borah Hint
During Senator Borah's luncheon with Roosevelt the other day, he dropped some pointed hints about Attorney General Cummings and Donald R. Richberg, which were not flattering to either.

Borah mentioned no names, but even Senator Holt of West Virginia would have understood what he was driving at.

"I think it is a very questionable proceeding," Mr. President, Borah said, "when the Government is pressing anti-monopoly charges against a group of big manufacturers, for a high officer of the Government and another gentleman who once occupied a high official position to undertake to settle the matter between them out of court."

(Borah was referring to the consent decree negotiations which Richberg and William Stanley, ex-Assistant Attorney General, conducted with Cummings on behalf of the Big Three motor companies while a Milwaukee grand jury was considering indicting the firms.)

"Either the charges are valid or they are not valid," continued Borah. "If they are not, then no action should have been started in the first place. If they are, then the matter should have been left to the judgment of the grand jury."

"Unquestionably the existing anti-monopoly laws need strengthening. But it seems to me there is no use doing that if what laws we have are going to be negated by deals between officials, whose duty it is to enforce them, and those who are accused of violating them."

Roosevelt listened attentively, but made no comment.

Francis's Pal
The Senate paid Lady Nancy Astor, Virginia-born member of the British Parliament, an unusual honor during her visit to Capitol Hill last week. It not only allowed her on the Senate floor but recessed for 20 minutes so she could meet the members of the body informally.

The celebrated peeress spent part of her time acclaiming the "lovely" personality and high ideals and motives of General Franco, chieftain of the Fascist armies now trying to destroy Republican Spain.

Lord and Lady Astor are members of a powerful group of British nobility seeking to bring an alliance between England and Hitler.

Note — Twenty-six Senators signed the message of greeting to the Spanish government, in which Franco was referred to as an "enemy" of "the democratic institutions of your young republic."

A Case In Point
After several months in which business leaders have pleaded with government authorities to meet them half way for a conciliatory solution of their problems, the firm of J. P. Morgan, which has never established any great record for conciliation, decided to try its own particular brand.

So George Whitney, a Morgan partner, sent a letter to Chairman Douglas of the Securities and Exchange Commission proposing a plan by which the United Corporation, giant Morgan-controlled utility holding company, could escape registration under the Holding Company Act. Douglas' reply was brief and to the point.

RAISING A FAMILY

By Olive Roberts Barton

Mothers are one way and dad—dies another. O, yes, they are different. But this difference should be made to help rather than hinder in raising the family.

Mother, you have nursed and cherished your little girl, or your little boy, and you think you know more about them than anyone in the whole wide world. You are right at that. You do, in most ways—but not in all. Besides you lack the courage, sometimes, to get a little rough with them. Isn't it true? You can't bear that word, can you? Well, maybe you will have more patience with them when I say that I don't mean beating or boxing their ears, but just plain discipline. We shall go into that later, but since we are talking of parents these days, I must mention it here.

Children Sense Difference
Children never judge their parents by the same standards. They know that daddy has the "low-down" on their laziness or their pranks better than mother has, because he sees them just a little more impersonally. He is away all day, and when he comes home he usually has a certain perspective that you, dear mother, cannot possibly have. There is something, you know, about not being able to see the woods for the trees, or missing the sea on account of the waves. Day after day small shortcomings pass right under our noses and our forgiveness, love and sympathy won't let us do much about it.

Then home comes father. He sees. And he calls a spade a spade. The only thing I have against the good man is that he is likely to bellow and threaten, which only makes the children phurous protests and demanded a no-compromise stand.

All of the above gentlemen are important Morgan clients. So the banking firm pulled in its horns and ran for cover.

Lost Dinner
Young Chairman Bill Douglas listened to Whitney's explanation with a wry smile.

"This is a great disappointment to me," he said finally, "and I'll tell you why. First, because the House of Morgan by its action passes up a great opportunity to perform an act of outstanding business statesmanship. Second, because your run-out costs me a dinner."

"When you phoned that you would register, a friend high in the Administration warned me that you Morgan people talk big but act little. I bet him a dinner. He wins."

"You didn't expect to find me?" she asked. "It seemed to her she should have known she would be waiting here."

"Hardly!" His laugh was harsh. "I supposed you were sailing somewhere on azure seas. With Rodney Brandon. Why didn't you go with him?"

"I'll tell you why," Connie answered quietly. "But I can't tell you here. Aren't you coming in, Bret? Or no . . . wait! Will you walk with me—up our hill?"

"I didn't suppose you remembered that we had had a 'hill,'" he said gruffly. There was no yielding in his dark eyes. "I can't see what the use of your telling me, after all. I suppose you simply changed your mind again—on another impulse. As you probably will do time and again without end."

"You hate me, don't you, Bret?" Her voice was soft, but her lips quivered. "Not that I blame you. I deserved that. I deserve anything you care to say to me, or think against me. But, please—if I fetch my wrap, before you come in, will you walk up the hill?"

"As you like. . . ." His manner said that it did not matter. He would remain as he was; stoic, impersonal, defenses furled.

SHE caught up an old sweater, pulled it on, closed the door behind her. Without saying anything more they fell into step side by side. They walked in silence, but with their accustomed swinging rhythm, for Connie's step matched his long stride, until they had reached the top of their hill.

The little white church still smiled down upon them; the kingdom that Bret had said belonged to her, still stretched below. In the east night clouds gathered; in the west the sun was a round ball of golden fire.

"Shall we sit down?" Connie asked, and waited for Bret to spread his handkerchief on the log. He did that for her, but he did not sit down. He stood looking out on that wide panorama of wild, untrammeled majesty, feasting his eyes, and his soul.

"It's my country, too, now, Bret," Connie said. "I believe I love it almost as much as you do. I believe I'll always come back to it. I know it will never disappoint me, or fail me, but, like nowhere else in the world, will make me 'new' once more."

"I'm glad—it means that to you," he said; but with that same reserve and stiff formality, "Naturally, you're right."

He said, "I have decided to give away all my millions."

CRANIUM CRACKERS

Fred Rauch decided to disappear and make people think that he was dead. He built up a clever plan, which fooled his wife—but not the police.

At 10 o'clock at night Mrs. Rauch was summoned to the morgue, where she identified the body of a motor accident victim as that of her husband. The features were unrecognizable, but Mrs. Rauch said that the clothes were those which her husband had been wearing that day. Papers found in the pockets also indicated the dead man was Rauch.

The last person who had seen Rauch was Sam Jenkins, a barber, who had given him a haircut at about 5 p. m., and who had seen Rauch enter his car and drive away immediately thereafter.

The police informed Mrs. Rauch that the dead man was not her husband.

Here is what Rauch had done: On the outskirts of the city he picked up a hitch-hiker who resembled him in general build. After riding a short way, he called his companion's attention to something on the right side of the road, and knocked him out with a wrench.

He then stopped the car, changed clothes with his victim, disfigured the man's face, drove the car to the top of a steep hill and jumped out as he turned it off the road. Rauch went on his way, believing no one would ever know that the body in the car was not his.

How did the police know the body was not that of Rauch? Solution on Classified Page

Richest Girl in the World

COST OF CHARACTERS
CONSTANCE CORBY—heroine; richest girl in the world.
BRET H. ANDERSON—hero; bridge builder.
RODNEY BRANDON—Connie's fiancé.
KATIE BLYN—Connie's "double."

CHAPTER XXIV
SPRING had indeed come to the valley, and to the blue-green hills. Connie knew that in no other spot in the world could it have awakened more beautifully. She knew that this, his own beloved country, was where Bret would come. Hadn't he said that no matter how far he roamed, always he must return here? And she had wondered if Bret's country might come to have the same influence over her.

She knew now, back in the old brick house with its ivy covered walls and stately elms, that this had come to pass; she would find peace here. Whether she again found happiness would depend upon Bret, and Bret alone.

Mrs. Parsons and Eloise had welcomed her as though she had come "home," as indeed she felt she had. What was more rare, and understanding, they had welcomed her without question or comment.

Connie helped Eloise and her mother about the big house, opening shutters, airing the high-ceilinged rooms; she dug in the garden, loosening the hard earth for young seeds that soon would point tiny green sprouts towards the sun. She helped in the huge kitchen, learning to bake biscuits and corn bread almost as good "Aunt Bertha's"; she took long tramps over Bret's bridge, up into the hills. The days were full to overflowing, though they were a time of waiting. And then one day the waiting was ended; Constance went to the door to open it to find Bret standing there.

HER heart skipped a beat, turned over, stood still. But her smile was steady and unsurprised, her eyes direct and unwavering.

"Hello," she said, as though they had parted but hours ago, for instead of weeks ago, and in friendliness, instead of in anger and hatred, "Won't you come in, Bret?" She held wide the door.

He said, "What are you doing here?" That tiny line was etched about his mouth; a dark flush under his skin; his eyes were guarded, somber. Perhaps they could not believe what they saw, as girl in a simple blue frock, her blowing and curling blue hair usually, I love it; it is part of me. Not only of me, but of all my people who lived here before me. Plain people. Pioneers. My grandfather was granted his plot of land from General Washington.

He had pride in his people, as he had in his land, more than pride, respect and reverence. She understood why: it was the pride of ancestry, of blood; it had nothing to do with fame or money or material things.

"YOU think I will change again," she said, searching for words to break down the barriers between them; the pride, the hurt, the force of his will. "But I shan't. I am sure of that. Sure that I ever was of anything. I've grown up, Bret. I suppose you think it is about time! It was a painful process. I had to hurt, not only myself, but others, too. Rodney for one. You, perhaps most of all. Or maybe myself—if you won't try to understand and forgive me."

"There is nothing to forgive," he said. Still he stood, staring out at the hills on the horizon, watching the sun sinking slowly behind them, the sky turning into a glory of scarlet and gold, blue and violet. "I am as much at fault as you; there is as much in me to forgive. I let you change me; I thought I could change you. Each of us is what each has always been."

"You're terribly wrong," she said again. "Not that I blame you for thinking of me as you do. I did try to change you, Bret. I'm glad I didn't succeed. I loved you because you were different from other men. Because you were as you are. . . ."

"And I love a girl named Katie Blyn." His tone was bitter; he turned on her, for a moment only. "You're not trying to tell me you are that girl again?"

She shook her head, caught her lip between her teeth; tears pressed so close behind her eyelids, a choking in her throat. "No, not that girl. But not Constance Corby, either. Maybe you will believe me, Bret—and believe in me—when I tell you what I have decided to do."

If he did not, then nothing ever could make him. She would know that he never would love her again. That her plan, though she would carry it through, alone, if necessary, would not bring him back to her.

"What have you decided to do?" Bret asked her.

She said, "I have decided to give away all my millions."

THE FAMILY DOCTOR

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

Repeatedly in this column it has been emphasized that the matter of controlling weight is, in most cases, simply physiological bookkeeping.

When a human being lies in bed doing nothing, he uses up about 11 calories per pound per day. If he exercises lightly he uses 20 calories per pound per day. If he plays football, tennis or chops down trees, he may use 40 calories per pound.

A man who weighs 150 pounds will, therefore, use 6000 calories a day when he is working hard or 2500 to 3000 calories a day if he is working around an office or a store and from 1500 to 1600 calories a day if he is at rest.

Since women weigh on the average less than men, a woman weighing 120 pounds will use about 1800 calories a day if she is hard at work but only 1200 calories a day if she is a lady of leisure.

If we want to reduce weight, we use less calories each day than the amount necessary to provide for the work that we do. However there are other factors necessary to keep in mind if you want to keep your health.

The stomach requires a certain amount of material on which to work. A complete liquid diet, therefore, may affect seriously the processes of motion of the stomach and digestion.

If a woman who wants to reduce regularly uses 1200 calories a day and wants to take 200 calories per day less, she can drink ten glasses of milk each day which will give her exactly 1000 calories.

However, even though milk is the most nearly perfect food, she will fail to obtain adequate amounts of iron, vitamin C and vitamin D as well as the necessary bulk. Thus she is more likely to harm her health and digestion than otherwise.

Two eggs would make 150 calories. On six eggs a day she could reduce but she would hardly be getting much satisfaction out of her diet. Twelve oysters make 100 calories, but no one would want to eat 144 oysters as a means of supplying the day's requirement of food.

If, however, one would wish to take exactly 1000 calories per day, it would be possible to add them up as follows:

	Calories
Milk, one glass	100
Bread, one large slice	100
Butter, 1½ ounces	100
Eggs, two	150
Small sirloin steak, 1½ ounces	100
Potato, one	100
Buttermilk, one glass	50
Peas, one serving, 3 ounces	100
Baked apple, 7 ounces	100
String beans 2 servings	50
Spinach, one serving	50

Thus one would have a great deal of food and still be on a reducing diet.

CHARGE GREEN WITH TREASON OVER CHARTER

U. M. W. Protests Leader's Signing of AFL Charter

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(P)—The United Mine Workers convention, acting as a grand jury, indicted William Green Wednesday on charges of "treason."

The convention then directed the union's executive board to give the American Federation of Labor president a hearing, and to expel him from the U. M. W., if he were found guilty.

Union officials had talked of asking the convention to expel Green without further to-do, but they decided in favor of the action after Green challenged the right of the convention to act as an original trial court.

Green, a member of the U. M.

W. for 48 years and for many years international secretary-treasurer, contended his own local union in Coshocton, Ohio, should try him if he were to be tried.

"We want to give Bill Green a square deal and that's something Bill Green didn't give his own union," said Frank Hughes, Westmoreland county (Pa.), district president.

(Green was charged with treason after he signed an A. F. of L. charter for the Progressive Miners of America, rival of the U. M. W. in Illinois.)

Wallace C. French Is Company Honor Man

Wallace C. French, whose home is in Houston, Missouri, was selected as the honor man of his company by his instructors at the San Diego U. S. naval training station for the week ending January 28, 1938, Commander J. M. Gates announces.

French enlisted in the navy at the navy recruiting station in St. Louis, Mo., on Dec. 14, 1937. Since that time he has been learning the necessary qualifications to fit himself for a career as a man-o-war's man.

At this station it is the custom to select every week the one man of each company of one hundred and twenty recruits among whom he has shown by his outstanding ability, his zeal, and his loyalty, that he is worthy of this special designation.

Relatives and friends of this young man will be happy to learn that he is adapting himself so nicely to the high standards which the modern navy has set for its bluejackets and that he has started on his naval career with such distinctive promise. He is a son of Albert L. French.

NEW HUDSONS AT KINDRED MOTOR CO.

Vivian R. Kindred, new owner of the Kindred Motor Co., recently attended a meeting in Kansas City where the new Hudson 112 was unveiled for the first time in this vicinity.

The announcement of this new car, along with the fact that Hudson is restoring jobs to 6,000 men and spending $11,000,000 for material, created a nationwide stir.

Mr. Kindred states that the new Hudson 112 is particularly outstanding in the matter of size, roominess and advance mechanical and safety features heretofore confined to higher priced cars.

An advertisement in this issue of the paper announces that the new Hudson's are now on display in Sedalia.

"EVER NORMAL GRANARY" BILL IS AGREED ON

Details Ironed Out At A Joint House-Senate Meeting

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(AP)—A senate-house committee agreed late Wednesday on details of the "ever-normal granary" bill, providing a vast system for controlling production and marketing of cotton, wheat, corn, tobacco and rice in an effort to stabilize prices.

Conferees said general provisions for corn, wheat, rice and tobacco were not altered during final sessions of the conference committee. Committee members said they expected the fruit of their labors would be subject to some criticism when the measure goes back to senate and house for final approval.

Chairman Smith (D. S. C.) of the senate agriculture committee, said the joint congressional group had approved his suggestion that bonus payments on the 1937 cotton crop be hastened. Under this arrangement growers can turn over to the government some 5,000,000 bales of cotton, on which loans are already made.

Congress already has voted $130,000,000 extra payments on the 1937 cotton crop in addition to loans ranging down from 9 cents a pound. Legislators from corn and wheat sections may protest the new provision.

The program establishes definite supply levels for the five crops and attempts to control production and marketing through a system of benefit payments, loans on stored supplies, and penalties for excess sales when supplies are large.

The secretary of agriculture will estimate the production of corn, wheat or other crops needed in any season, convert this figure to acreage, and then split the acreage up among states, counties and individual farms.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Caused by Tired Kidneys
Many of those nagging, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.
The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisons waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.
If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.
Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

FATHER NOTES FAULTS MOTHER IS BLIND TO Ten Stars Twinkle in "Merry-Go-Round of 1938"

Ten personalities of stellar calibre, according to Buddy DeSylva, producer, appear in the leading roles of "Merry-Go-Round of 1938" which comes to the Liberty Theatre tomorrow and Saturday.

Best known to screen fans everywhere are Mischa Auer and Alice Brady, both of whom have convulsed audiences with their inimitable comedy performances in numerous pictures. Mischa appears as a vaudeville performer who is forced to impersonate an Indian swami in order to further the love affair of his foster daughter.

From Broadway, three important stars were recruited for the production. Bill House, portly comedian, featured recently in "White Horse Inn," Bert Lahr, who recently completed the leading comedy role in the New York stage production, "The Show Is On," and Jimmie Savo, world-famous pantomimist and clown, who has been a screen favorite ever since the days of the early Mack Sennett comedies.

Dave Apollon, called the ace of vaudevillians, will be seen leading his world-famous mandolin orchestra, Dave is himself a notable comedian.
In the featured romantic leads are John King, who scored so strongly in "The Road Back" in the role of the disillusioned young soldier, and Joy Hodges, a newcomer to the screen but a favorite with radio audiences because of her appearances with the orchestras of Ted Fio Rito, Carol Lofner, Jimmie Grier and Ozzie Nelson, and for her work in numerous air playlets. She is also a Broadway favorite, now in the leading feminine role in the Kaufman and Hart production, "I'd Rather Be Right."

Activity Begins At the Osage Community Farm

First Family Moves Into Dairy Project Homes to Begin Life Anew

Life is beginning anew for young Roy Tipton and his family. Two weeks ago he was a farm hand near Harrisonville in Cass county but today he holds a share in a $20,000 agricultural project with the hope of eventually owning a modern dairy farm.

Late in the fall of 1937 the federal government completed building on a rural rehabilitation program known as the Osage Farms project. This program included building new houses and reconditioning others with the aim of establishing a community where victims of droughts and other enemies of farmers could find a new start.

The largest unit of this group is the dairy farm located thirteen miles northeast of Sedalia near Longwood. Here six families will cooperate in running a modern dairy. Each household will have certain duties to perform. Six modern homes have been grouped near each other and will share a large dairy barn, horse barn, four hen houses, garages and other outbuildings.

Is First To Arrive

Tipton, who was the first to arrive on the farm, is enthusiastic over his new occupation and is anxious to begin work. He is twenty-two years old, has a wife, nineteen, and a baby daughter. They have been married three years.

Before contracting to live on the community project Tipton was a farm hand. He said he had been working on various farms in Cass county all of his life.

"I wasn't getting anywhere and times were hard when I heard of the Osage Farms project," said Tipton, "so I applied for a place and here I am."

"One-tenth of my income will go to the government to pay for the land and machinery which will some time be mine."

Beaming with pride he shows visitors through his new home and the other buildings on the farm.

Standing on the front porch of his spotless white house with the air of one who is about to receive his first pair of long pants motioned to the huge barns.

"That's where I will work."

Nearby stood a tall lengthy cement barn equipped with the latest farm equipment from showrooms for the cows to automatic drinking troughs.

"Those chicken houses" he pointed to a series of four long white buildings, "they will house 500 chickens each. We will have two thousand soon to feed and to gather eggs from."

The homes are all built on plans accepted as model homes. Two are along the lines approved by the Good Housekeeping Institute. In one of these Tipton and his family live. The house is a two story frame building equipped with electric lighting and running water.

Running Water

On the ground floor are three rooms. The fixtures in the airy, well-lighted kitchen are all built in. Plenty of storage room is provided by large, roomy closets and a full basement underneath.

the house. On the upper floor are two rooms intended for bedrooms.

Running water will be provided by a central pumping station. Wells are being drilled on all the plots.

Besides these six families on the dairy farm, which comprises 140 acres, eighteen others will farm approximately 1,900 acres. Those on the outlying farms will raise the feed to supply the dairy.

The dairy barn is 100 feet long and across its extends a wing 100 feet long. It will be equipped with every modern device in dairy farming. Automatic drinking fountains have been installed and milkers, coolers and other equipment will be put in soon.

Latest Equipment

A loft extends its complete length. The building is divided into several compartments. One known as the "loafing barn" is for feeding the cattle and housing them in winter. When milking the cows will be driven first through a "shower barn" where they will be washed. From here they go to special stanchions where they will be milked by automatic milkers. The rest of the space is devoted to coolers, storage, barns and an office.

Near this is a large horse barn built on similar lines. It is designed to hold eight teams. The four hen houses on the farm will house two thousand chickens.

"They'll wake me every morning", chuckled Tipton, "but come out this spring and we'll have fried chicken."

Quiet Jumpy Nerves

Sleep good. Get back lost weight. If your stomach won't let you eat three substantial meals a day, naturally you have to draw on your reserve vitality to keep going. This soon runs out. Then you become shaky, nervous, irritable, can't sleep... feel that fate has given you a raw deal. Stimulants and drugs (the first things most people think of) only make the condition worse. You must get the gastric juices to flow more freely. You do this by taking Tanlac. It soothes the disturbed stomach and increases your appetite. You will WANT to eat. Besides, Tanlac helps put the liver, kidneys and bowels in working order, so they will be able to do a good job and make you feel well again. Tanlac does this very thing. You will be rid of your biliousness, nervousness, acid indigestion and toxic headaches. You will begin putting on the extra pounds you need. You will sleep soundly, too. Ask for Tanlac at any drug store. But get only Tanlac.

THREE INDICTED AS GRAND JURY MAKES REPORT (Continued From Page One)

Marlin. And while this jail is very old and is inadequate for the needs of a county this size, we found that it was in the best condition possible considering its age; that it was clean and efficiently operated by members of the sheriff's staff. We recommend as have many grand juries in the past, that the county should take steps, if possible, within their financial ability to purchase a more suitable jail. As a result of our investigation so far as we can determine, the sheriff and his deputies with the aid and cooperation of the constable, have been very diligent in enforcing the law in this county, and a great many law violators have been promptly apprehended and severely dealt with through their efforts. Subpoenas for witnesses to appear before this body have been promptly and efficiently served, both in the city and country surrounding Sedalia.

"We submit that we have checked both the city and county records as to liquor and other licenses, and find that the records substantially agree in both offices, and further, that practically all licenses are paid to date in accordance to the laws of this state.

"All complaints that have come before this body have been carefully investigated, and indictments returned where the evidence justified them. We further find that the county in general is law abiding, and that the laws are diligently enforced by the law enforcement officers.

"This jury adjourns with the pride in the general conditions in Pettis county, and are glad that much has been accomplished toward the efficient operation of all public offices during the past year.

DRAFT REPORT ON PEACE OVERTURES

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 3.—(AP)—An American Federation of Labor committee which negotiated unsuccessfully for peace with the Committee for Industrial Organization last December drafted a report to the A. F. of L. executive council today of vast significance to the future relations between the two rival labor groups.

On its findings the council, nearing the end of its two-week session, may decide whether to sever the last ties between the federation and the important unions in the mining, clothing and other fields which have joined John L. Lewis' organization.

A complete ouster of these unions, which have been suspended for a year and a half, would be followed by the chartering of AFL units in their fields and probably bitter rivalry to recruit members. The council was empowered to expel the CIO unions by the last general convention.

The report of the peace committee, headed by George M. Harrison will not be made public until tonight but if it conforms to the statements of A. F. of L. officials since the parley collapsed at Washington Dec. 21 it will place the blame for the failure squarely on Lewis.

BLAME GAS LEAK IN FATAL BLAST

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—The bureau of mines today blamed a gas leak rather than seepage from surrounding lines or wells for the disastrous New London, Texas, school explosion that claimed nearly 300 lives last March 18.

The bureau said 294 persons, including 280 pupils, died in the explosion. Other sources placed the death toll at 297.

The bureau concluded after investigation, officials said, that the explosion resulted when a large volume of natural gas and air mixture which had accumulated "in an inadequately ventilated space under the building" was ignited by an arc or spark from an electric switch.

CHILI AND PIE SUPPER AS A SOCIAL BENEFIT

The Broadway Parent-Teacher Association will have a benefit chili and pie supper at the school from 5:30 to 8 o'clock Friday evening, proceeds to be used for school purposes.

The chili will be made under the supervision of Mrs. Kenneth Middleton, and those attending are assured a real delicious bowl of chili as well as a choice of pies.

To Jail For Shoplifting

Odessa Jones, colored, appeared before Justice of the Peace W. H. Leslie this afternoon on a charge of petit larceny. The woman pleaded guilty and was sentenced to thirty days in the county jail.

According to the information the woman was shoplifting at Musser's on West Second street.

'LITTLE BUSINESS' PARLEY IS ENDED WITH AN UPROAR (Continued From Page One)

directed at both Kempfer and Shafer.

In the midst of this racket and confusion cries of "adjournment" caught the attention of Chairman Fred Roth of Cleveland, O. He put the question and an echoing "aye" ended the conference.

After Shafer had been removed from the auditorium, Charles P. Bloome, executive vice president of the wearing apparel board of trade of Pennsylvania, fought his way to the platform shouting at the top of his voice:

"This man does not represent Philadelphia business men."

Shafer, who wore a sign saying "we want a Roosevelt chairman not a Hoover chairman," was only pitched out of the auditorium but Kempfer was accompanied to the sidewalk outside the columned commerce department building.

New disruptions in the program scheduled for the meeting of industry's "little fellows" opened the second day's session of the 1,000 called together by Secretary Roper to assemble their collective business advice for the administration.

The printed program of the meeting listed a conference with Mr. Roosevelt for 3:30 EST today. This meeting was postponed until 11 a. m. tomorrow after a white house aide said the president was so "overloaded with paper work and mail" that he decided to remain in the white house presidential study today and would make no engagements.

A few minutes earlier the little business men had gathered in the commerce department's auditorium, to hear Chairman Fred Roth of Cleveland plead that they conduct themselves "as business men" and not all talk at once.

"Why filibuster so long?" was one immediate shout from the floor, while several screamed "sit down."

Roth halted until the noise subsided. Quiet gradually was restored.

Proceed to Business

The "little fellows" then proceeded to work on proposals offered by nine subsidiary groups, after a move to keep the conference in session another day had collapsed.

The first proposal was government financial relief to small business men primarily through stimulation of private credit. It was offered by a group headed by James E. Daly of Columbus, which also proposed, as an alternate relief plan, creation of a special federal small business loan agency.

The effort to continue the conference through tomorrow was abandoned by A. B. Comstock, Boston consulting engineer, who had suggested yesterday that the conference reorganize according to federal reserve districts. He suggested that the conference proceed as originally outlined by commerce department officials and that the federal reserve district method of organization be adopted later on as the basis for some permanent council of small business men.

Many Topics Discussed

Gradually the pandemonium of the first session had given way to a semblance of order as nine groups undertook to whip into shape recommendations on as many subjects.

When the men reassembled this morning—many had talked in hotel rooms far into the night—there still remained considerable doubt as to the exact program.

Some discussed fixing responsibility of labor unions, ending unfair trade practices, lightening taxes, and stimulating building as ways to help little business get on the upgrade again.

The lack of agreement was reflected especially at a tenth group meeting, to which no specific subject of discussion had been assigned. It served as a forum for scores of the "little fellows" who wanted to air their views on every conceivable phase of government-business relations.

Asking an end to "undue government interference with business, one group recommended repeal of the undistributed profits tax and modification of the capital gains tax.

A committee studying small business development agreed on an eight-point program, recommending among other things the easing of credit through relaxation of federal restrictions on bank loans. As an alternative it suggested the outright federal loans to business.

This group also asked legislation fixing the responsibility of labor unions.

New Arrival Named

For the past few years she has resided in Bonne Terre and taught school there until 1933 when poor health caused her retirement.

Surviving is her daughter and a son, Charles H. Rider, Jr. Another son, Homer Rider, passed away a number of years ago.

The body will arrive in Sedalia at 1:25 o'clock Friday afternoon and burial will be in Crown Hill cemetery. McLaughlin's will have charge of arrangements here.

Will Tittsworth

Will Tittsworth of San Patricia, N. M., a former Pettis countian, passed away at Roswell, N. M., Wednesday night, according to a message received this morning by his brother, Dr. Guy Tittsworth.

The message gave no further information, and death is believed to have been unexpected, although Mr. Tittsworth had not been in good health for some time.

Mr. Tittsworth was born in Indiana, but spent many years of his life with his parents and brothers and sisters on a farm in Elk Fork township. He left here about thirty years ago and has been living on a ranch in New Mexico.

He leaves his wife, a daughter living in San Francisco, Calif., a son at the ranch home, and the following brothers and sisters, Mrs. Ella Renfrow, Billings, Okla.; Mrs. Sadie T. McMillan, Chattanooga, Tenn.; Fred Tittsworth, Colorado Springs, Colo.; George Tittsworth, Captain, N. M., and Dr. Guy Tittsworth, Sedalia.

Mr. Tittsworth was in Sedalia last August, called here at that time by the illness of his brother, Dr. Tittsworth.

PROVISIONS ON CORN AND WHEAT IN BILL APPROVED

Would Require Storing Part of Crops If Controls Voted

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—In detail, the corn and wheat provisions, under the "ever normal granary" bill sanctioned by a senate-house committee, included:

The normal corn supply under the granary measure is fixed at average annual consumption and exports for the previous 10 years, plus 7 per cent of these as a reserve, or about 2,500,000,000 bushels.

If indicated corn supply was 10 per cent above this, or 2,750,000,000 bushels growers in the corn belt would vote on whether to enforce a limit on sales.

The commercial corn area includes counties in 12 middle western states and roughly corresponds to the "corn limit" area under previous farm programs.

If controls were voted, all growers in this area would be required to store part of their crop under seal on the farm. Those who failed to do this or sold corn in excess of quotas, would face a penalty of 15 cents a bushel on the excess.

Government loans on corn under seal would operate when prices dropped to 75 per cent of parity value. These loan values for complying growers would vary from 75 down to 52 per cent of parity, depending upon indicated total supply.

Cooperating farmers outside the commercial corn area would receive loans 75 per cent of the size of those within the area. Corn growers within the commercial who had not cooperated, could get loans at 60 per cent the rate for cooperators.

Corn is considered as marketed if fed to livestock, dairy herds, poultry, or given away, unless consumed on the farm or its products are consumed there.

Farms exempted are those producing less than 300 bushels annually.

Wheat:

Normal supply of wheat under the granary program is fixed at average annual domestic consumption and exports for the previous 10 years plus a reserve of 15 per cent of these. The 1938 level would approximate 805,000,000 bushels.

If old stocks and indicated production forecast a wheat supply of 35 per cent above export and domestic consumption needs, wheat growers could apply marketing quotas, or sales limits on all growers, by approval of two-thirds those voting in a referendum.

Wheat growers could either keep or store excess wheat. A government loan is provided whenever prices drop to 52 per cent of parity value. The secretary of agriculture could increase this loan value.

Growers producing 100 bushels or less are exempted from controls.

Wheat farmers also could participate in the government insurance program approved for a start in 1939.

SHARP DROP TO INDUSTRIAL SHARES

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Leading industrial shares fell $1 to $5 or more on the stock exchange today in wake of a further active selling movement in shares of American Telephone and Telegraph Co.

Telephone, one of the most widely held share issues, was pushed down more than $8 at one time to the lowest level in more than two years. The break climaxed a steady flow of selling in the stock for a week or more.

Usually well informed financial sources attributed pressure upon the Telephone issue partly to liquidation of a large bloc of shares held in an estate portfolio, but there were other surmises, too.

Wall street boardroom gossip attributed pressure on the communications issue partly to rumors regarding the federal communication commission's forthcoming report on the company, based on its two-year investigation of the Bell Telephone system. However, sources close to the company indicated the officials were not looking for an adverse report, and added there was nothing inside the company to explain the stock's weakness.

STOCK EXCHANGE MEMBER - SHIP SELLS FOR $59,000

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—A membership on the New York Stock Exchange was sold today for $59,000, the lowest price since 1918 and off $6,000 from the previous transfer.

This compares with a record price of $625,000 reached in 1929. That price, however, was reached when each membership was given a right to one-fourth of an additional membership in connection with a 25 per cent increase in membership that year. After allowing for these rights, the record membership prices was equivalent to $500,000.

FARR TO FIGHT MAX BAER MARCH 11

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Tommy Farr, British empire heavyweight champion, today agreed to meet Max Baer, former world champion, in a fifteen round bout at Madison Square Garden March 11.

Farr finally came to terms when Promoter Mike Jacobs promised that the winner would be given a match later this year with the winner of the Joe Louis-Schmeling title bout this summer.

Farr and Baer each will receive 27½ per cent of the receipts. The Welshman already holds one decision over Baer, whom he outpointed in a twelve-round bout in London April 15, 1937.

The agreement came after much negotiation, Farr's chief argument being that he already had beaten the Californian. He flatly refused to sign unless guaranteed a title shot in the event he repeats his victory over Baer. In his most recent start the Welshman dropped a close decision to Jimmy Braddock, who now has retired.

Baer will arrive in New York early next week.

WOMAN 'BRITISH AGENT' HELPED BRING ARRESTS

"Miss X" In Revelations on Smuggling of Armaments Plans

LONDON, Feb. 3.—(AP)—A blonde woman "British agent" told today how for nearly a year she had helped copy plans of Britain's most secret armaments smuggled from the big Woolwich arsenal in combating an alleged spy plot.

A slim, black-clad girl identified only as "Miss X" testified against P. E. Glading, former arsenal employee, and three arsenal workers accused of duplicating blueprints of army, navy and air force weapons allegedly intended for delivery to an unnamed foreign power.

The four defendants, arrested under the official secrets act, were remanded until February 7 after "Miss X" had corroborated the prosecution's story of an alleged plot involving a mysterious couple from Moscow.

Speaking under apparent stress, "Miss X" told how she had entered the war office's counter-espionage service in 1931, doing volunteer work in "the friends of the Soviet Union."

In 1934, she said, she met Glading, who had an office in the same building as "the friends." She testified she undertook "a special mission abroad" for him and in February, 1937, rented a London flat under his direction, where she learned photographic copying.

Stevens Disappeared

There, "Miss X" said, a couple named Stevens, who spoke French and who, according to Glading, had lived in Moscow, directed the making of hundreds of exposures of allegedly stolen plans.

The Stevenses, she testified, later disappeared.

During this whole time "Miss X" kept contact with the war office, and phoned it the night before Glading was arrested.

Prosecutor G. B. McClure successfully opposed all bail for the defendants. He said there was evidence of "contact with a foreign power," and later that "a certain country would welcome them with open arms."

Glading was employed at Woolwich until 1928. Other defendants are Albert Williams, until recently armament examiner at Woolwich, George Whomack, assistant foreman of the gun section at the arsenal, and C. W. Munday, assistant chemist.

McClure declared Glading "prepared to act as traitor to his country" and persuaded the others to bring him the plans for copying.

STOCKS TUMBLE UNDER SELLING

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Leading stocks crashed through lowest levels since 1935 in today's market with losses running to 5 or more points at the worst.

In view of the proportions of the tumble, volume was comparatively small although much ahead of yesterday. Rallying periods were slow and generally failed to follow through, although sufficient support appeared in the closing hour to enable principal sufferers to revive somewhat at the finish.

The news, on the whole, was none too encouraging and another sharp break in American Telephone, which topped more than 8 points at one time, unsettled sentiment at the start and touched all industrial groups.

Rails and utilities did relatives well throughout, the majority holding declines to fractions. Steels, motors, rubbers, aircrafts, farm implements, electrical equipments, chemicals and specialties were in the forefront of the slide.

Although the ticker tape was seldom pressed, transfers amounted to around 1,100,000 shares.

ELEVEN NAVAL AIRMEN DIE AS GIANT BOMBERS COLLIDE (Continued From Page One)

had taken off from San Diego to join the fleet, which sailed out of Los Angeles harbor Tuesday after a record concentration of ships there. Each was a twin-engine seaplane type.

Ten Unaccounted For

The ten missing airmen, listed by the navy simply as "unaccounted for," were:

1-P-3—Lieut. Elmer Glenn Cooper, commanding officer; Aviation Cadet Erwin John Koch, second pilot; Joe Earl Walton, aviation machinist mate second class; Maurice Fitzmaurice, aviation chief machinist mate; George Gordon Griffin, aviation machinist mate first class; Julian Rawls, radioman second class; William Paul Landgrave, aviation machinist mate second class.

11-P-4—Lieut. Carleton Barmore Hutchins, commanding officer; John Gregory Neidweick, aviation machinist mate first class; Marion William Woodruff, aviation chief machinist mate.

D. B. McKay, aviation chief machinist mate, suffered a broken leg. V. O. Hatfield, aviation chief machinist mate, also sustained a broken leg and cuts. L. S. Carpenter, aviation machinist mate second class, had a broken arm.

The collision occurred at 8:37 o'clock (10:37 p. m. CST) last night.

Take Off In Morning

The planes were of the same type as those which have made many long distance mass flights without accident. The latest exploit was January 19, when 18 of the big flying boats flew 2,570 miles from San Diego to Honolulu in 20 hours and 30 minutes. They gathered in formation for the record-breaking flight over Point Loma.

The two planes had taken off yesterday morning from the air base at San Diego to join the war game.

It was the third major American naval plane disaster of the year and the second disastrous naval crash off Southern California within a month. Twenty-four men were lost in the three crashes.

Seven were killed when one of the navy's big PB patrol-bombers vanished at sea during maneuvers January 7.

Four days later seven Pan American Airways fliers were killed when their Samoan clipper exploded in mid-air near Pago Pago on a trans-Pacific flight.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Spirit" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, February 6, 1938.

Golden Text: Ephesians 4:30. "Grieve not the holy Spirit of God, whereby ye are sealed unto the day of redemption."
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "This I say then, Walk in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfil the lust of the flesh. For the flesh lusteth against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh; and these are contrary the one to the other: so that ye cannot do the things that ye would. If we live in the Spirit, let us also walk in the Spirit" (Gal. 5:16, 17, 25).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Jesus reasoned on this subject practically, and controlled sickness, sin, and death on the basis of his spirituality. Understanding the nothingness of material things, he spoke of flesh and Spirit as the two opposites,—as error and Truth, not contributing in any way to each other's happiness and existence. Jesus knew, 'It is the spirit that quickeneth; the flesh profiteth nothing.'" (p.356).

The student body chose certain representatives to substitute for the regular teachers, and the regular teachers have an opportunity of visiting class rooms other than their own.

SEDALIA CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Statistics reveal that 3½ cigarettes were manufactured every day for every man, woman and child in the United States during 1937. Sedalia and Pettis county contributed to this in some measure by producing 1,220 pounds of tobacco, while the trade territory within a 50 mile radius produced 234,537 pounds, indicated by annual production figures for this area.

Long ago merchandisers decided that the way to get business was to go after it. The result of this decision was intelligent advertising—and it got the business.

Cities have come to the conclusion that in order to develop industrially they will have to follow the same tactics that merchandisers have been using so successfully. Sedalia has many advantages to offer manufacturers. Unfortunately, they are not always familiar with our advantages.

The Sedalia Chamber of Commerce is initiating an advertising campaign to introduce our advantages to the outside world. R. K. Barrett, industrial development expert, arrived in Sedalia last night to spend the remainder of the week in supervising the preparations.

CHO-COFFEE FOAM

Let's see—something different to serve at informal afternoon tea. Let me think. Ah! I have it! Cho-Coffee Foam! A most delectable combination of coffee, chocolate and marshmallows that will certainly bring forth ecstatic words of praise from your guests.

Subtle is the word for it, because it has the sweetness of sugar, but still it contains no sugar as such. It's creamy, but it's not a high-calorie food drink. It has a rich chocolate flavor, but, surprisingly enough, it isn't rich.

"But how can any one beverage have this unusual combination of qualities?" you ask.

The answer is—marshmallows. Luscious little tidbits they are, that unselfishly give up their own individuality in order that other foods may be glorified in just this manner. They act in many different capacities and in this recipe they serve both as the sweetening agent and as the "cream" that whips up to form those engaging little bubbles.

And how simple the process of making this delicious beverage is! So why not see for yourself if all these grand things we have been saying are not true?

Cho-Coffee Foam (Serves 4)
2 ounces chocolate
1½ cups milk
1 cup strong coffee infusion
Dash of salt
10 marshmallows.
Melt chocolate. Place milk and coffee infusion in saucepan, heat to scalding point. Combine with melted chocolate, add salt, and blend thoroughly. Then add marshmallows and heat over low flame, beating constantly with a rotary egg beater until marshmallows are melted and mixture is creamy and foamy. Serve at once.

MARKET BASKET

Dainty sandwiches or wafers are all this Cho-Coffee Foam needs to accompany it on its journey to your tea table. But it's bound to find its way to other tables as well. Because this beverage is so easy to prepare and so ultra-delicious, you will enjoy serving it often—for Sunday suppers and evening parties. Thus, the stronger sex has an opportunity, too, to bask in its luxurious goodness.

Crystal White is the big creamy-white family bar soap that gives richer, longer-lasting "billion-bubble" suds—even in hard water, because it is made with the same costly tropical oil used in making expensive toilet soaps. These thicker, longer-lasting, harder-working suds dissolve grease and grime like magic... get clothes crystal clean... dishes crystal clear. Yet Crystal White Soap costs only half as much as soap in fancy packages.

HEARTY FOOD FOR WINTER FANS

By MARTHA LOGAN

Winter sports have gained in popularity to such an extent that there is a great interest in all phases of social life connected with these rugged outdoor activities. So it is that hearty foods for hearty appetites are quite in order and clever hostesses are delving into recipes of grandma's day to find some of the forgotten foods of yesteryears.

Large informal supper parties are arranged where steaming bowls and heaping platters of good old-fashioned foods are served. Quite appropriate on generously layered with savory these menus are baked beans, salt or "barbeled" pork. Or, one might serve a large tureen of fish or corn chowder in which float crisp pieces of well-browned pork. Other suggestions are baked corned beef hash, ham hocks with vegetables, or a heap of rich brown griddle cakes with pork sausage.

The salt pork listed in the recipes given here is an old-fashioned form of pork that is often overlooked when hunting for something different. In fact, this method of keeping pork by salting was used by the pioneers of this country who worked outdoors through the long cold winters, not for sport but for their livelihood.

There are two methods of preparing this salted pork. In one method, the pieces of fresh pork are rubbed well with salt, then cured in tiers. In the other method, the salted pork is packed into barrels and allowed to remain in the brine formed by the salt and meat juices. Although the fatter pieces of pork are usually used for this salt treatment, there are sections of the country in which the flavor of this meat is so well liked that all cuts of pork may be purchased salted. Where economy is a deciding issue, this style of pork is a great boon because of the low price, the high fuel value, and the variety of combinations possible.

For the following recipes, one may use the dry salted or the barreled pork, buying a fat piece where seasoning is the main factor, or selecting pieces liberally streaked with lean when the meat plays an important role. The latter cuts are the side pork, which is especially good when sliced thin, pan fried until crisp and brown, accompanied by a milk gravy and potatoes cooked in their jackets. That is a dish men like an women, too, when winter winds whip the appetite to a natural old-fashioned high.

Tomato Pelan

1/2 pound barreled side pork
 1 onion
 2 cups canned tomatoes
 1/2 cup water
 2 cups cooked rice
 Seasoning
 Worcestershire sauce
 2 Tablespoons butter.
 Cut the pork into slices, then dice. Fry in a heavy deep kettle with the diced onion until well browned. Add tomatoes and water. Bring to a boil. Stir in the rice and cook slowly until all liquid is absorbed. Just before serving, stir in the butter. Serve generously with toast or hard rolls and cold slaw.

Brunswick Stew

4 pounds fowl
 2 quarts water
 1/2 pound barreled pork
 1 onion
 1/2 cup diced celery
 2 cups cooked lima beans
 2 cups canned corn
 1 cup cooked okra
 1 cup cooked tomatoes
 Worcestershire Sauce
 Red and black pepper.
 Clean, cut up, and simmer fowl in water until tender. Take meat from bones. Return to broth (there should be 2 quarts of stock). Slice pork into small pieces. Pan fry with sliced onion and diced celery. Combine all ingredients and heat thoroughly. Serve very hot in large soup plates.

Note: 2 cups of diced potatoes may be cooked in the broth.

Corn Chowder

1/4 pound barreled pork
 1 onion
 1 No. 2 can corn
 2 cups boiling water
 1 quart milk
 1 cup mashed potatoes
 Seasoning
 6 crackers

CHOCOLATE COOKIES ARE GOOD DESSERT PROSPECTS

The rich natural flavor and smooth texture of chocolate make it a universal favorite as a cooking ingredient, just as its protein content makes it likewise a favorite as a milk beverage for meatless meals. Chocolate cookies, when made with oatmeal, have such a delicious, rich—nut-like flavor that they are well qualified to play the part of dessert, alone and unattended.

As chocolate scorches easily it should be melted over hot water, and not over the direct heat.

The ingredients for Chocolate Cookies are:

- 1/2 cup of butter
- 1 cup of sugar
- 2 eggs
- 2 squares of chocolate (melted)
- 1/2 cup of flour

1/2 teaspoon of salt
1 cup of Quick Quaker Oats
1/2 teaspoon of vanilla
Cream butter, add sugar, and cream thoroughly. Add well beaten eggs and melted chocolate. Add flour and salt, then Quaker Oats and vanilla. Drop from a teaspoon onto a buttered baking sheet and bake in a very slow oven 30 minutes. Yields 24 cookies.

Today's Recipes

FISH CHOWDER — One pound haddock, five potatoes, one sliced onion, two cups irradiated evaporated milk, two cups water, three tablespoons butter, salt and pepper. Wash haddock and cut in small pieces. Peel potatoes, cut in small pieces and boil for five minutes. Add sliced onion and the fish. Cook together until fish is done. Add the milk, water and butter. Season with salt and pepper. Heat. This makes five to six servings.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

By ANN PAGE

BEF prices are close to mid-depression levels, including even steaks from the loin. Pork and lamb, too, are very reasonable. Veal, however, is high. Broilers and ducks offer the best poultry values.

Eggs are cheap and plentiful, though the recent cold weather may slow production. Butter and cheese are moderately priced.

Fruits, particularly juice and navel oranges, grapefruit and apples, are abundant and low in price. Strawberries, while a luxury at this season, are not expensive. The large supply of winter pears available means lower than usual prices for this popular salad and dessert fruit.

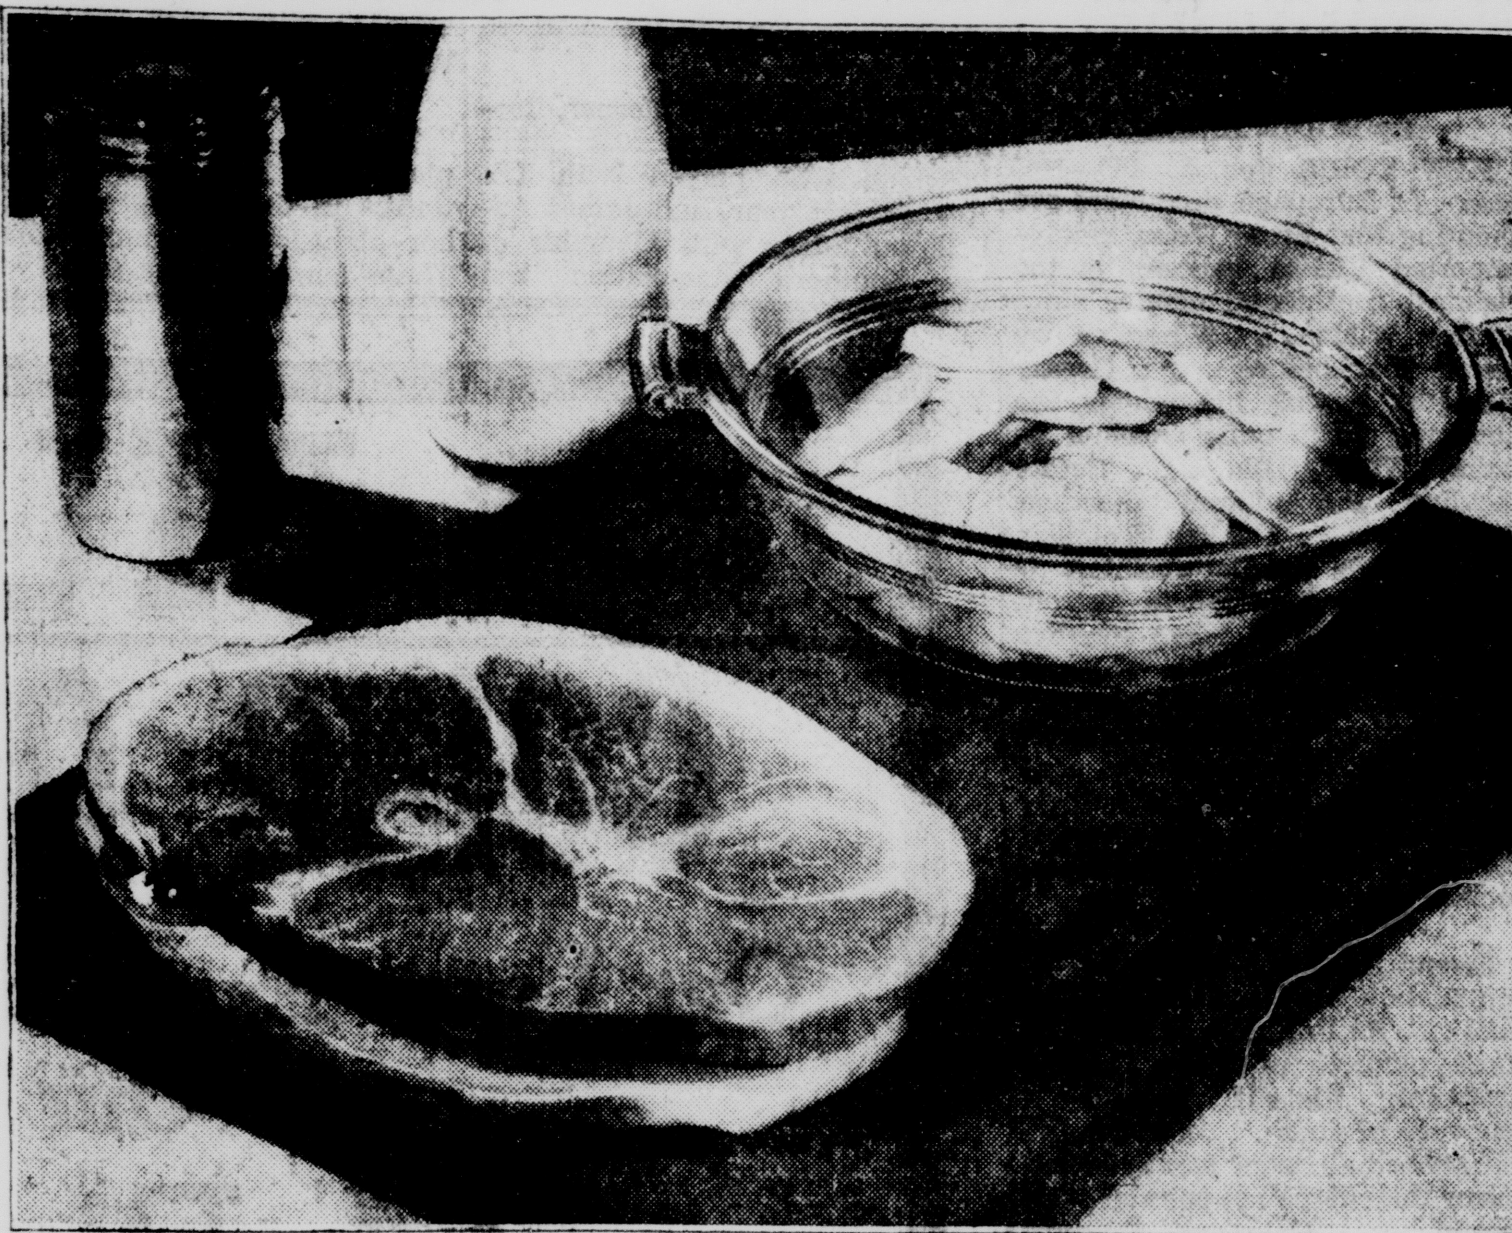

Seasonable foods make up the following menus.

Low Cost Dinner
Round Steak Baked Potatoes
Creamed Onions
Bread and Butter
Fruit Gelatin Cookies
Tea or Coffee Milk

Medium Cost Dinner
Roast Stuffed Shoulder Pork or Lamb
Mashed Potatoes Carrots and Peas
Bread and Butter
Floating Island
Tea or Coffee Milk

Very Special Dinner

Broiled Chicken New Parsley Potatoes
Mushrooms Green Peas

MARTHA LOGAN uses - - - - - A "Picnic" for Cold Days

No, we aren't suggesting an out-of-door meal. To the thrifty housewife, the word "Picnic" brings to mind a cured and smoked shoulder cut of pork baked or gently simmered to develop the delicious flavor and real tenderness for which these cuts are famous.

Scalloped ham and potatoes have long been a favorite combination. We suggest using slices of a picnic with the sliced potatoes, milk and flour. Long slow baking in a slow oven gives best results. The casserole may be covered during the first half of the cooking period.

THINKS THE BEST BALL IS PLAYED BY NATIONALS

Pinelli Considers Best Pitching By Hurlers In That League

(By RUSSELL J. NEWLAND)
SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 3.—The New York Yankees are world series champions but in the opinion of Ralph "Babe" Pinelli better baseball is played in the National League than in the American League year in and year out.

Pinelli, who umpires in the National League, says that fact does not influence his opinion. He plays in both leagues, with the White Sox and Detroit of the American and Cincinnati of the senior circuit.

As Pinelli sees it the National league plays tighter ball; is superior defensively and has the better pitching. The American League provides more hitting and has more long distance swat-smiths. But eliminate the Yankees and he gives the edge to the National.

For a comparison of pitching strength, Pinelli points to the staffs of the last three clubs in each league in 1937.

In the National it was Brooklyn, Philadelphia and Cincinnati. Brooklyn had Mungo, Frankhouse and Butcher. Philadelphia had Walters, La Master and Passeau. Cincinnati had Grissom, Derringer, Hollingsworth and Schott. Some of those fellows are great pitchers; the rest are above average.

"The last three clubs in the American League race, Washington, Philadelphia and St. Louis, couldn't muster a pitching force to compare favorably with the National League bunch. I don't know how you are going to beat that kind of an argument."

Carl Hubbell of the Giants is the easiest pitcher to work with, Pinelli says. He's always within a few inches of the plate and as cool as ice. Pinelli has umpired in the league three years. Only once has Hubbell questioned one of his decisions. He said: "That looked like a pretty good ball, didn't it babe?" That was all.

The toughest batters to fool are Joe Medwick of the Cardinals, Paul Waner of Pittsburgh, Mel Ott of the Giants and Billy Herman and Gabby Hartnett of the Cubs, in that order. Pinelli says these five absolutely will not go after a bad ball.

Northwestern Gets A Gridiron Ace

By The Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—Northwestern University's football prospects for 1939 to 1941 shot into the stratosphere today and a lot of coaches all over the country sighed.

Bill De Correvont, the prep school gridiron ace that every college coach wanted, caused it all by announcing he would enter Northwestern next fall.

With the 19-year-old halfback, the nation's most publicized high school athlete last fall, will be four teammates from Austin high school of Chicago where he rocketed to stardom by scoring at least one touchdown in every game he played and 35 in his last season—nine coming in one game.

Lynn Waldorf, coach at Northwestern and principal speaker at a banquet in honor of the Austin football squad last night, said he never had seen De Correvont before but "any school would be very glad to have De Correvont enroll and we feel the same way about it."

Football experts declare the elusive 180 pound blond bullet has a potential college future that may equal, even surpass that of Harold "Red" Grange, the one time "galloping ghost" of Illinois. Last fall 120,000 spectators jammed Soldier Field to watch him lead his team to the Chicago city championship.

In addition to his football prowess, De Correvont is considered one of the best outfielders in high school baseball and at one time the Brooklyn club is reported to have offered him a college education in return for an agreement to join the Dodgers after graduation.

FOUR GLOVERS WIN AT PITTSBURGH

The Sedalia Golden Glovers squeezed out four victories and a draw in their matches with Pittsburgh, Kansas amateurs Wednesday night. The bouts were "tuneups" for the Golden Glovers tournaments in Kansas City next Monday and Tuesday.

Cecil Landers, 110, won on a technical knockout in the second round over Johnny Slavin of Pittsburgh.

"Billy" Smith, 126 won a decision over Joe Kiado, 122, Columbus, Kas.

Lloyd Bowers, 136, Sedalia, won a decision over Max Pixley, 135 of Neodesha, Kas.

Buck Miller, Sedalia, won by default over Maynard Hogan of Neodesha.

Pete Stuart 118, drew with Pat Green, 118, of Neodesha.

Aggie McMillan, Sedalia, lost on a technical knock-out in the third round to Charlie DePew of Weir, Kas.

Lafe Lane, 121, Neodesha, knocked out Earl Stuart, Sedalia, 119, in the first round.

Harold "KO" Wheeler, 140, of Arcadia, won a decision over Walter Martin, 145, of Sedalia.

Louis Prent, 147, Cherokee, Okla., won a decision over Bud Martin, 145, Sedalia.

Millard McMurray, 118, Pittsburgh, won a close decision over Dan Murray, 118.

Phil Prather, 175, Coffeyville, Kas., won on a technical knock-out in the first round over Luther Hyatt, 175, of Sedalia.

Lieut. Tom Taylor of the C. C. Camp, Farlington, Kansas, was the referee.

Sedaliens, who accompanied the team to Pittsburgh were: Trainer Joe Ordway, Coach Clarence Henley, Frank Hugelmann, B. F. "Bunny" Fischer, Al Lueck and D. Kelly Scruton.

Vines Increases Lead

PASADENA, Calif., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Ellsworth Vines increased his lead over Fred Perry to 8-3 on their exhibition tennis tour by winning here last night, 6-4, 6-3.

Fish have sensations of discomfort, but their pain nerves are not developed to as great a degree as in higher forms of life. For this reason, they suffer very slightly when hooked or speared.

THE SPORTS ROUNDUP

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Ho-hum... European promoters are shouting that Ernie Weiss, newly imported Vienna bantam, is the classiest continental clouter since Jimmy Wilde... Where've we heard that before... Greasy Neale is getting his winter tan knocking golf balls around at Lake Worth, Fla... Before tackling the alumni meetings down east... Allen Tolmich, Wayne U's hurdler-sprinter, is eyeing a coaching job in Detroit... Which would mean bye-bye 1940 Olympics for Mr. Tolmich... Looks like old home week for Columbus on the Cardinals' new roster... The Gas House gang is trying out four pitchers, three infielders and Outfielder "Socks" Slaught from the American Association camps this spring.

Seems like the state boxing commission can't see art for art's sake... Putting thumbs down on those pictures of Tony Galento wrapping himself around a schooner of suds... Oklahoma's kid basketball team has averaged better than 50 points per start this season... Oakmont Country Club is getting its face lifted for this year's national amateur... Because the pros broke their backs (and their clubs) there in the '35 open... Rip Sewell, Pirates' new flinger, is assistant police chief down at Plant City, Fla... Watch out for this guy, Pie Traynor... Nap Lajoie is spending most of his time shooting golf just south of Palm Beach... When he's not deep sea fishing.

Lots of basketball coaches tearing their hair about the zone defense this year... Getting as bad as the row-over-five-man football defense... Notre Dame's George Keoghan says he'd rather not schedule teams using it... Frankie Parker may decide not to defend the national indoor tennis title this year... Bill Brandt's new National League green book tells you Dizzy Dean has the percentage edge over every club in the National League, Carl Hubbell is in the red only against Brooklyn, and Van Mungo is on the short end against the Boston Bees and Giants in their big league careers.

The football coaches' hair-pulling society had a moaning session today... When word got around that Bill De Correvont was heading for Northwestern... When their respective heavyweights, Red Burman and Bob Tow, showed up at the Hippodrome last night, Jack Dempsey and Jim Braddock were not the seconds (as advertised).

McCLUSKEY BE IN TWO LONG SPRINTS

By BILL BONI
NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Veteran Joe McCluskey of the New York A. C. issued a warning today to Don Lash, Indiana iron man, and other "running fools" who try to pack too much competition into the annual indoor track campaign.

McCluskey, who will face Lash and three other national champions in the two-mile race of the Millrose games at Madison Square Garden Saturday night, has been campaigning for nine years, and just now is running the fastest races of his career, Lash, Joe believes, already is slowing up, although he hasn't been around half as long.

"Don's trying to do too much," McCluskey said. "Saturday night, besides running the two-mile, he'll be in the mile against Glenn Cunningham, Archie San Romani and Gene Venzke. He did the same thing in Boston last week end, when he beat me in the two-mile in 9:04.6 and ran last in the mile."

"Coming on top of the appendicitis operation he had last year, that sort of a program is hurting him. Sure, that Boston two-mile was fast, the second fastest ever run there. But if Don were running as well as last year, I believe he could have bettered that by two or three seconds."

Joe's own running policy is to do it for fun, and that's what he'll be out for Saturday night.

TWO ROOKIES SIGN UP WITH CHICAGO CUBS

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—Two rookies were the latest to add their signed contracts to the 1938

Chicago Cub list, Charles A. Weber, treasurer and business manager of the Cubs announced today.

They were Steve Mesner, former White Sox recruit third baseman who played with Los Angeles last year, and James Asbell, outfielder with Memphis of the Southern Association last season.

Before going to Los Angeles starred with the Ponca City Western Association club.

There is only one male hop-plant louse in a score of generations. In the spring, eggs of the hop-plant louse hatch out females. These females bring forth young within eight days, and continue bringing forth new female families throughout the summer. In the autumn is hatched a brood consisting exclusively of males.
